3. A NATURAL LIFE

With gorgeous land, trails, and complimentary bikes, the top-tier Weekapaug Inn in Westerly, RI, brought in naturalist Mark Bullinger to maximize the outdoor experience for guests. Bullinger offers daily classes in fly fishing, clam catching, birding, stargazing, and more. And on August 7, he will be leading a Full Moon Paddle through the silvery moonlight of Quonochontaug Pond, with a champagne toast to follow. What a guy. Weekapaug Inn, 25 Spray Rock Rd., Westerly, RI, 401-637-7600; weekapauginn.com

4. UP, UP, AND AWAY!

Montauk or Newport? No need to decide, because this summer, you can be in both. The acclaimed five-star Gurney's Resort opened a second, soon-to-be renovated outpost in Newport. Over the Fourth of July weekend, the hotel, which partnered with Blade helicopter charters, will be flying guests between Newport and Montauk. "With our debut of the Newport resort, we are excited to have guests from near and far celebrate in a destination that is so quintessentially Americana," says George Filopoulos, owner of Gurney's Resorts. Gurney's Newport Resort, 1 Goat Island, Newport, RI; 401-851-1234; gurneysresorts.com

5. AIN'T NO MOUNTAIN...

"She sounds great after all these years!" says Kim Noltemy, the BSO's Chief Operating & Communications Officer. 'She' is Diana Ross, the legendary female singer performing at the BSO's Tanglewood Festival on August 30th, along with Melissa Etheridge, the Boston Pops, and John Williams. Tanglewood is the BSO's yearly summer festival that has held performances on its 526 acres since the 1930s. "Tanglewood is interesting because you can bring in food, beverages, couches, canopies—whatever you want." Tanglewood, 297 West St., Lenox, MA; 617-266-1200; bso.org/brands/tanglewood ■

3. The Weekapaug Inn, where guests can flyfish, and bird and stargaze with naturalist-guided experiences. 4. Gurneys of Montauk now counts Newport as the location of its newest gem. 5. The one and only Diana Ross headlines a summer full of Boston Pops Orchestra concerts at Tanglewood.

PRINTS CHARMING

TAKE A RIDE ON THE PSYCHEDELIC SIDE AT OCEAN HOUSE WITH A LILLY PULITZER MAKEOVER.

BY KELLY ANDERSON

There are purple seahorses on the bikes, fuchsia snails on cabanas, and cobalt butterflies on the towels. You'll probably be sporting a few emerald green anchors on your shorts yourself after a stay at the newly decorated Lilly Pulitzer scene at The Ocean House in Watch Hill, RI, an official partner of the brand. "Both brands are so iconic," says Ocean House's Lisa Glover, "and marrying them up in a fun collaboration like this just made sense."

Lilly Pulitzer, the eponymous founder of the company, was an infamous American socialite who was known as the Queen of Prep. And nothing quite says "New England summer" like preppy accoutrements. At Ocean House, guests can ride complimentary Lilly-patterned Martone bikes for ice cream and shopping in Watch Hill's charming downtown, where a new Lilly Pulitzer shop has opened.

If you still don't have your fix, book your stay specifically for the one-bedroom Lilly Pulitzer (formerly the Nash) Suite. The space has been decked out from floor to ceiling in Pulitzer décor. There's hand painted canvases, shell accented mirrors, custom Lilly print king-size bedding (along with 100 percent goose down and foam pillows), curtains, and splashy barware. Guests will be gifted with pop color Lilly beach totes, too. Once you've entered the garden of citrus suns and lime sea urchins, there is no going back. Ocean House, 1 Bluff Ave., Watch Hill, RI, 401-584-7000; oceanhouseri.com ■
